If you've been a subscriber to EA's Origin Access service, you've no doubt come to love and hate it at the same time. You'll love it if you play the games that are in the vault, but not so much if you don't play those particular games. Steamcrate is the service that wants to help you move to this platform, and for a mere $7 a month right now if you check out the details below. For that $7, you get anywhere from $100 - $700 worth of games each month.

In addition to your monthly batch of games, Steamcrate subscribers are automatically entered into the Uber Crate giveaway each month. Packed with over $600 worth of Steam titles, the Uber Crate offers even more of a return on your investment, if you're lucky.
