CES officially started on Tuesday but with a show of this magnitude the "pre-events" naturally start before in order for everyone to try and fit everything in. Pepcom is a chance for companies to give everyone a sneak peek at their latest and greatest before the doors officially open at CES. We've attended Pepcom for a number of years and every year we find a couple products that surprise us and this year was no different.

We've talked about FirefoxOS here at BCCHardware and more over at WeeklyTechUpdate, and it was really interesting to see it in action. As you should be able to see in the video.
