

Facebook Has 2 Billion Monthly Users

Eventually I feel that Jason and I will be right and Facebook will start to lose popularity. At this point though, they are doing nothing but climb and there are now 2 billion monthly users. That's 2,000,000,000 for those of you that like visual references. That's a lot of users. As Facebook becomes even more "popular" I am using it less as I'm tired of all the video content that autoplays on every device I own. It's a great way to consume data and make people mad. I'm sure I'm not the only one - but 2 billion people apparently don't mind.

Founder Mark Zuckerberg announced the milestone today in a quick post (on Facebook, of course) saying, "We're making progress connecting the world, and now let's bring the world closer together." That sounds a lot like he wants to do more of the same -- but you know what they say about things that ain't broke.
