

Pair of PSUs

Written by Benjamin "Zeus" Heide
Monday, 21 May 2012 14:16 -

To make our day feel complete, Hardware Secrets brings us a couple of power supply reviews. They've got both the LEPA B650 as well as the In Win GreenMe 750W units on their bench and show off these units in some of the best PSU reviews on the 'net. Take a look if you want real details.

All wires are 18 AWG, which is the minimum recommended gauge. The number of connectors available is lower than we expected for a 750 W product. It would be better if the unit had four cables for video cards instead of only two, which would allow the out-of-the-box installation of two high-end video cards that require two power connectors each.
