

HP's new Omen GamingPCs Look Sweet

Written by Benjamin "Zeus" Heide
Wednesday, 17 August 2016 00:36 -

HP has just announced their new Omen gaming PC lineup and it looks pretty awesome. The specs on their laptops run from quite modest to absolute high-end. The Omen X Desktop is very unique and is a classy cube case on a stand - balanced on it's edge. While it certainly looks like form over function, it's actually really well laid out internally and should be quite serviceable. More details at the link below.

And don't worry if you weren't in the market for an over-the-top desk machine, as there's more Omen hardware in the pipeline. An updated Omen 17 laptop now packs NVIDIA's portable version of the GTX 1060 or GTX 1070 as well as a mini DisplayPort jack, making it friendly to both VR and dual external screens.

Source: Engadget

HP's new Omen Gaming PCs Look Sweet

Written by Benjamin "Zeus" Heide
Wednesday, 17 August 2016 00:36 -
