The developers of Android have come up with all the stats about Android and just what versions everyone is using and put them into a nice chart. Right now Gingerbread (2.3+) is still dominating with over 47% of Android users still using Gingerbread. Ice Cream Sandwich (4.1) is gaining with 29.1% and the new Jelly Bean (4.1-4.2) is just over 10% now.

These numbers are very interesting to see as one of Android's biggest knocks by app developers is knowing what version to program for.
