Fujitsu has been hanging around BCC here for quite a while. He's a friend of mine and has "officially" joined as a news poster. This will help take some of the load off myself, and I can concentrate on product reviews and site maintenance a little more. Head on over and give him a warm welcome over here

Also posting some news around here will be Nicao. He's been with us for awhile as a Software/Game Reviewer, and will be pitching in with the odd news update.
